

MumWrite FAQs

1) What if I don't have time to write?

Making time as a mum is challenging but having a programme like this can actually make it easier to find time to write as you have accountability and support. Lots of mums have found they created lots more and have been inspired to continue to do so! If you're struggling, you can also talk to me and I will give you extra support.

2) When do workshops take place?

Workshops will take place every other Monday or Wednesday (course specific) at 10am GMT. The sessions will also be recorded so you won't miss a thing!

3) What if I can't attend one of the workshops?

If you can't make it on the day, for whatever reason, you will be sent a recording and prompts from the session. I will also be on hand to support you if you need it.

4) Why should I pay for this course?

It's true, there are some free resources out there and I sometimes do workshops for free. However, this programme is an investment. By paying, you're investing in yourself and your writing. You are also ensuring that myself and other guest facilitators are paid fairly for the time and effort they put into the course, which means they can fully dedicate themselves to providing an excellent experience for you. If you break down everything you get into separate prices, you can easily see how much value you're getting from the course.

5) I don't want to be on camera. Is that okay?

Of course! The most important thing is that you feel comfortable so please turn your camera off and mute yourself if you wish. You can join in as much or as little as you want. There are breakout rooms at times but you can choose to remain in the main session and wait for the others to return.

6) My baby/child wants to join in! Is this a problem?

No, not at all. I am a mum and so are all the other participants. We understand interruptions and we're happy to accommodate you and your child/ren if need be. MumWrite is made for mums so don't feel bad about anything – we get it!

7) I'm a beginner. Is this okay?

We welcome writers with no or lots of experience. The activities all start simply and build from there so you will be fine. I am also available if you need extra support or feel overwhelmed. Get in the Habit is most suitable for beginners.

8) I have additional needs. Can you help?

Yes. Please just talk to me about what would help you and I will do my best to help. I often produce accessible resources for those with dyslexia and give extra support to neurodivergent writers. We try to show examples on screen to help with visibility (in a large font) and I can help with any clarification.

More questions?

Email: mumwrite@gmail.com

